

“I love the autumn but dread the annual leaf cleanup. This fall season I’m trying something different. I won’t be spending untold hours blowing, raking, or dragging leaves; my leaves will not be piled up in the street and no tax dollars will be spent to haul them away. Instead, my leaves will be fertilizing my lawn and garden. Mulching-in-place is much more inviting and easier to do. It's also greener and it just makes sense.”
